I'm leading the full cycle of work with a product: from idea and concept to planning, development, testing, launch and support. Also, I'm managing the marketing team, elaborating the marketing and launch strategy, and testing product hypotheses on different markets (US, LATAM, and Eastern Europe).

Currently, I'm successfully managing the financial system integration process, to scale up the product to a Fintech revolution in the market. Also, I'm drawing the marketing strategies on different markets and contribute to its implementation, growth metric track and optimization.

Led the product launch, elaborated the go-to-market strategy, managed the development team, collaborated closely with the marketing and design teams, and successfully released key feature iterations. Additionally, I have managed the development of the product's mobile app, ensuring a user-centric and cohesive experience across platforms.

Also, I was a part of a start-up hub where I've conducted numerous product discovery researches, pitched ideas, tested product hypotheses using Meta, Google Ads and YouTube advertising, handled the analytics tools that helped us in strategic decision-making.
